

WATER BOARD IS TO BE ADVOCATED

Civic Body Would Provide Co-operation to Commissioner.

IT ELIMINATES POLITICS

City Club Continues Fight for Hospital for Tulsa County.

The necessity for better water for Tulsa, pending the settlement of the water question now before the Supreme court, was stressed by M. A. Younkman, formerly water commissioner in the Illinois administration before the League club yesterday noon.

Mr. Younkman offered a short talk concerning that he is a commissioner from the civic club of the city he created to co-operate with the water commissioner. His remarks in full on this subject follow:

"Politics should not control the future of Tulsa's water supply, no matter from what source derived, and I can only see one way if the various clubs of the city like the League club will take the initiative and choose to ballot a member or members to serve with the water commissioner as an advisory board. In other words a committee, without any executive, would be formed of said members of commission so you might call them to pass on all problems that perplex the commissioners, and prepare for action all matters pertaining to the water improvements and extensions."

"It is true that you would not ask that a man to do a certain job in this capacity without remuneration. This would be easily arranged by passing an ordinance creating this water board and designating the amount each would receive for attendance at weekly night meetings—the pay to come from the water revenue."

No One Seated During the Prologue. Curtain at 8:15 Sharp

A NEW EPOCH-making event in the annals of American amusements is the presentation by Richard Walton Tully of the virile, compelling, accomplished American actor, Guy Bates Post, in the iridescent bubble of modern humanity, "The Masquerader."

This dramatic masterpiece by John Hunter Booth, taken from the widely read novel of Katherine Mansfield, most intimately illustrates the lives of two men who met in the fog and traded identities and living quarters.

The dual characterization offers Mr. Post a wonderful opportunity and the contrasted characters are impersonated by him with all the art of a genius mind. His drug fiend is a pitiful wretch; his Loder, the mental and moral antithesis of the other.

More intensely and artistically interesting than Deckle and Hyde—more massive in presentation than any modern play, and yet, so deftly done, its ponderous scenes move with the smooth rapidity of an uninterrupted panorama, and that is what this wonderful play is—A LIVING, MOVING, TALKING PANORAMIC REFLEX OF THE WARP AND WOOF OF HUMANITY.

The most ponderous of all modern plays, pulsating with the element that comprises "Life," presented in—
